

Installation Code Interpretation

Through the course of business we receive numerous requests concerning interpretation of installation codes. Please be aware our installation requirements are always found in the product installation guide reflecting how the product was listed and tested during development. However local, state and national codes must be adhered to during the installation process as applicable outside of the product installation requirements. As we are not in all cases privileged to local codes and/or requirements, the most accurate source for this information is the local code official.

As always we are available to assist in required data or listing information at the request of the code official but are not able to interpret or override standard codes.

If you have any questions, please contact Allied Technical Support at 800-515-3501.

FOR DEALER DISTRIBUTION